Drums, this year's Diadem theme was selected because it is characteristic of the vitality, fearlessness and boldness of the modern generation. The students who populate the halls of this school are a part of that generation. They are the leaders of tomorrow; an abstract people who will continue to advance this world and make it a modern and peaceful place in which to live. To the classes of K-M we dedicate this annual. To those who stand for a new bold way, a new fearless world and a better tomorrow we give you DRUMS!

GOVERNMENT

President—Ted Montgomery

Raising approximately thirteen hundred dollars with a profitable magazine sale was only one of the goals which the student council successfully reached during this prosperous year of '58 - '59. Other projects included the accomplishment of final permission and cooperation with the school board to get the parking lot paved and put a track around the football field. Many campus problems such as the after game dances and lunch room situation were also cleared up by the effective group which represented the ideas and problems of each home room.

Presiding over all student council meetings and activities was Student Body President, Ted Montgomery. In case of his absence, vice president, Lee Parr handled all responsibilities. Nancy Taylor recorded the minutes of each meeting and provided a dittoed copy for every student council member. Keeping account of the finances was Diana Stevens. Advising the group that met every other Wednesday after school was Dr. Stewart, Principal.

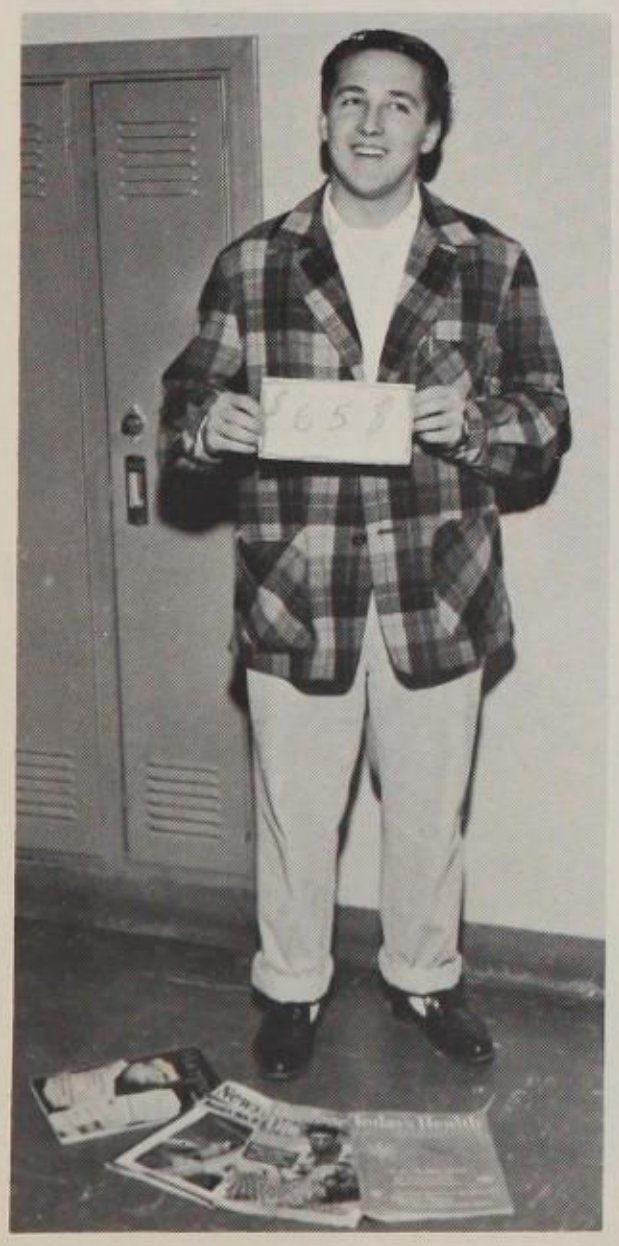
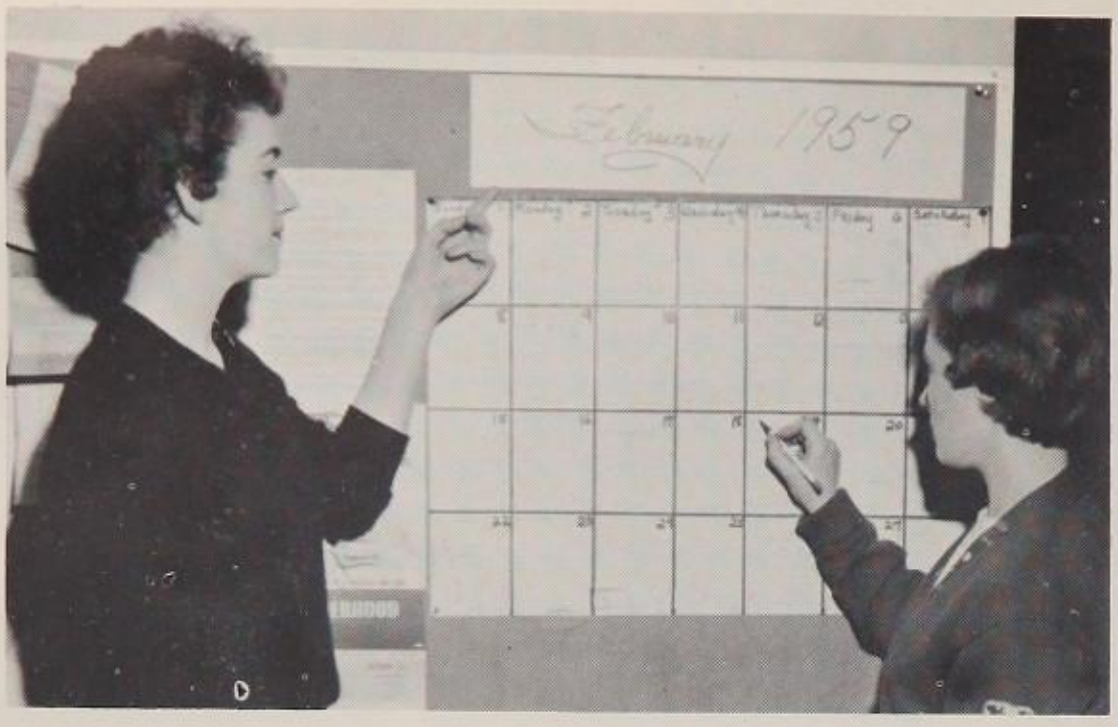
Left Row: J. Green, A. Maxwell, S. Caldwell, A. Ronish, C. Bevaart, N. Kelly, H. Pugh, J. Tessendore, C. Regan, T. Anderson, T. Montgomery. Right Row: B. Snelling, B. Haag, M. Steele, S. Schnell, A. Crain, S. Ottenbacher, W. Shimitz, S. Gerlt, R. Halte, M. Lynn, P. Nelson, D. Stevens, N. Taylor.

Ace Maxwell has reason to smile. He sold the most magazine subscriptions during the magazine drive held last winter and won the prize of $65.00.



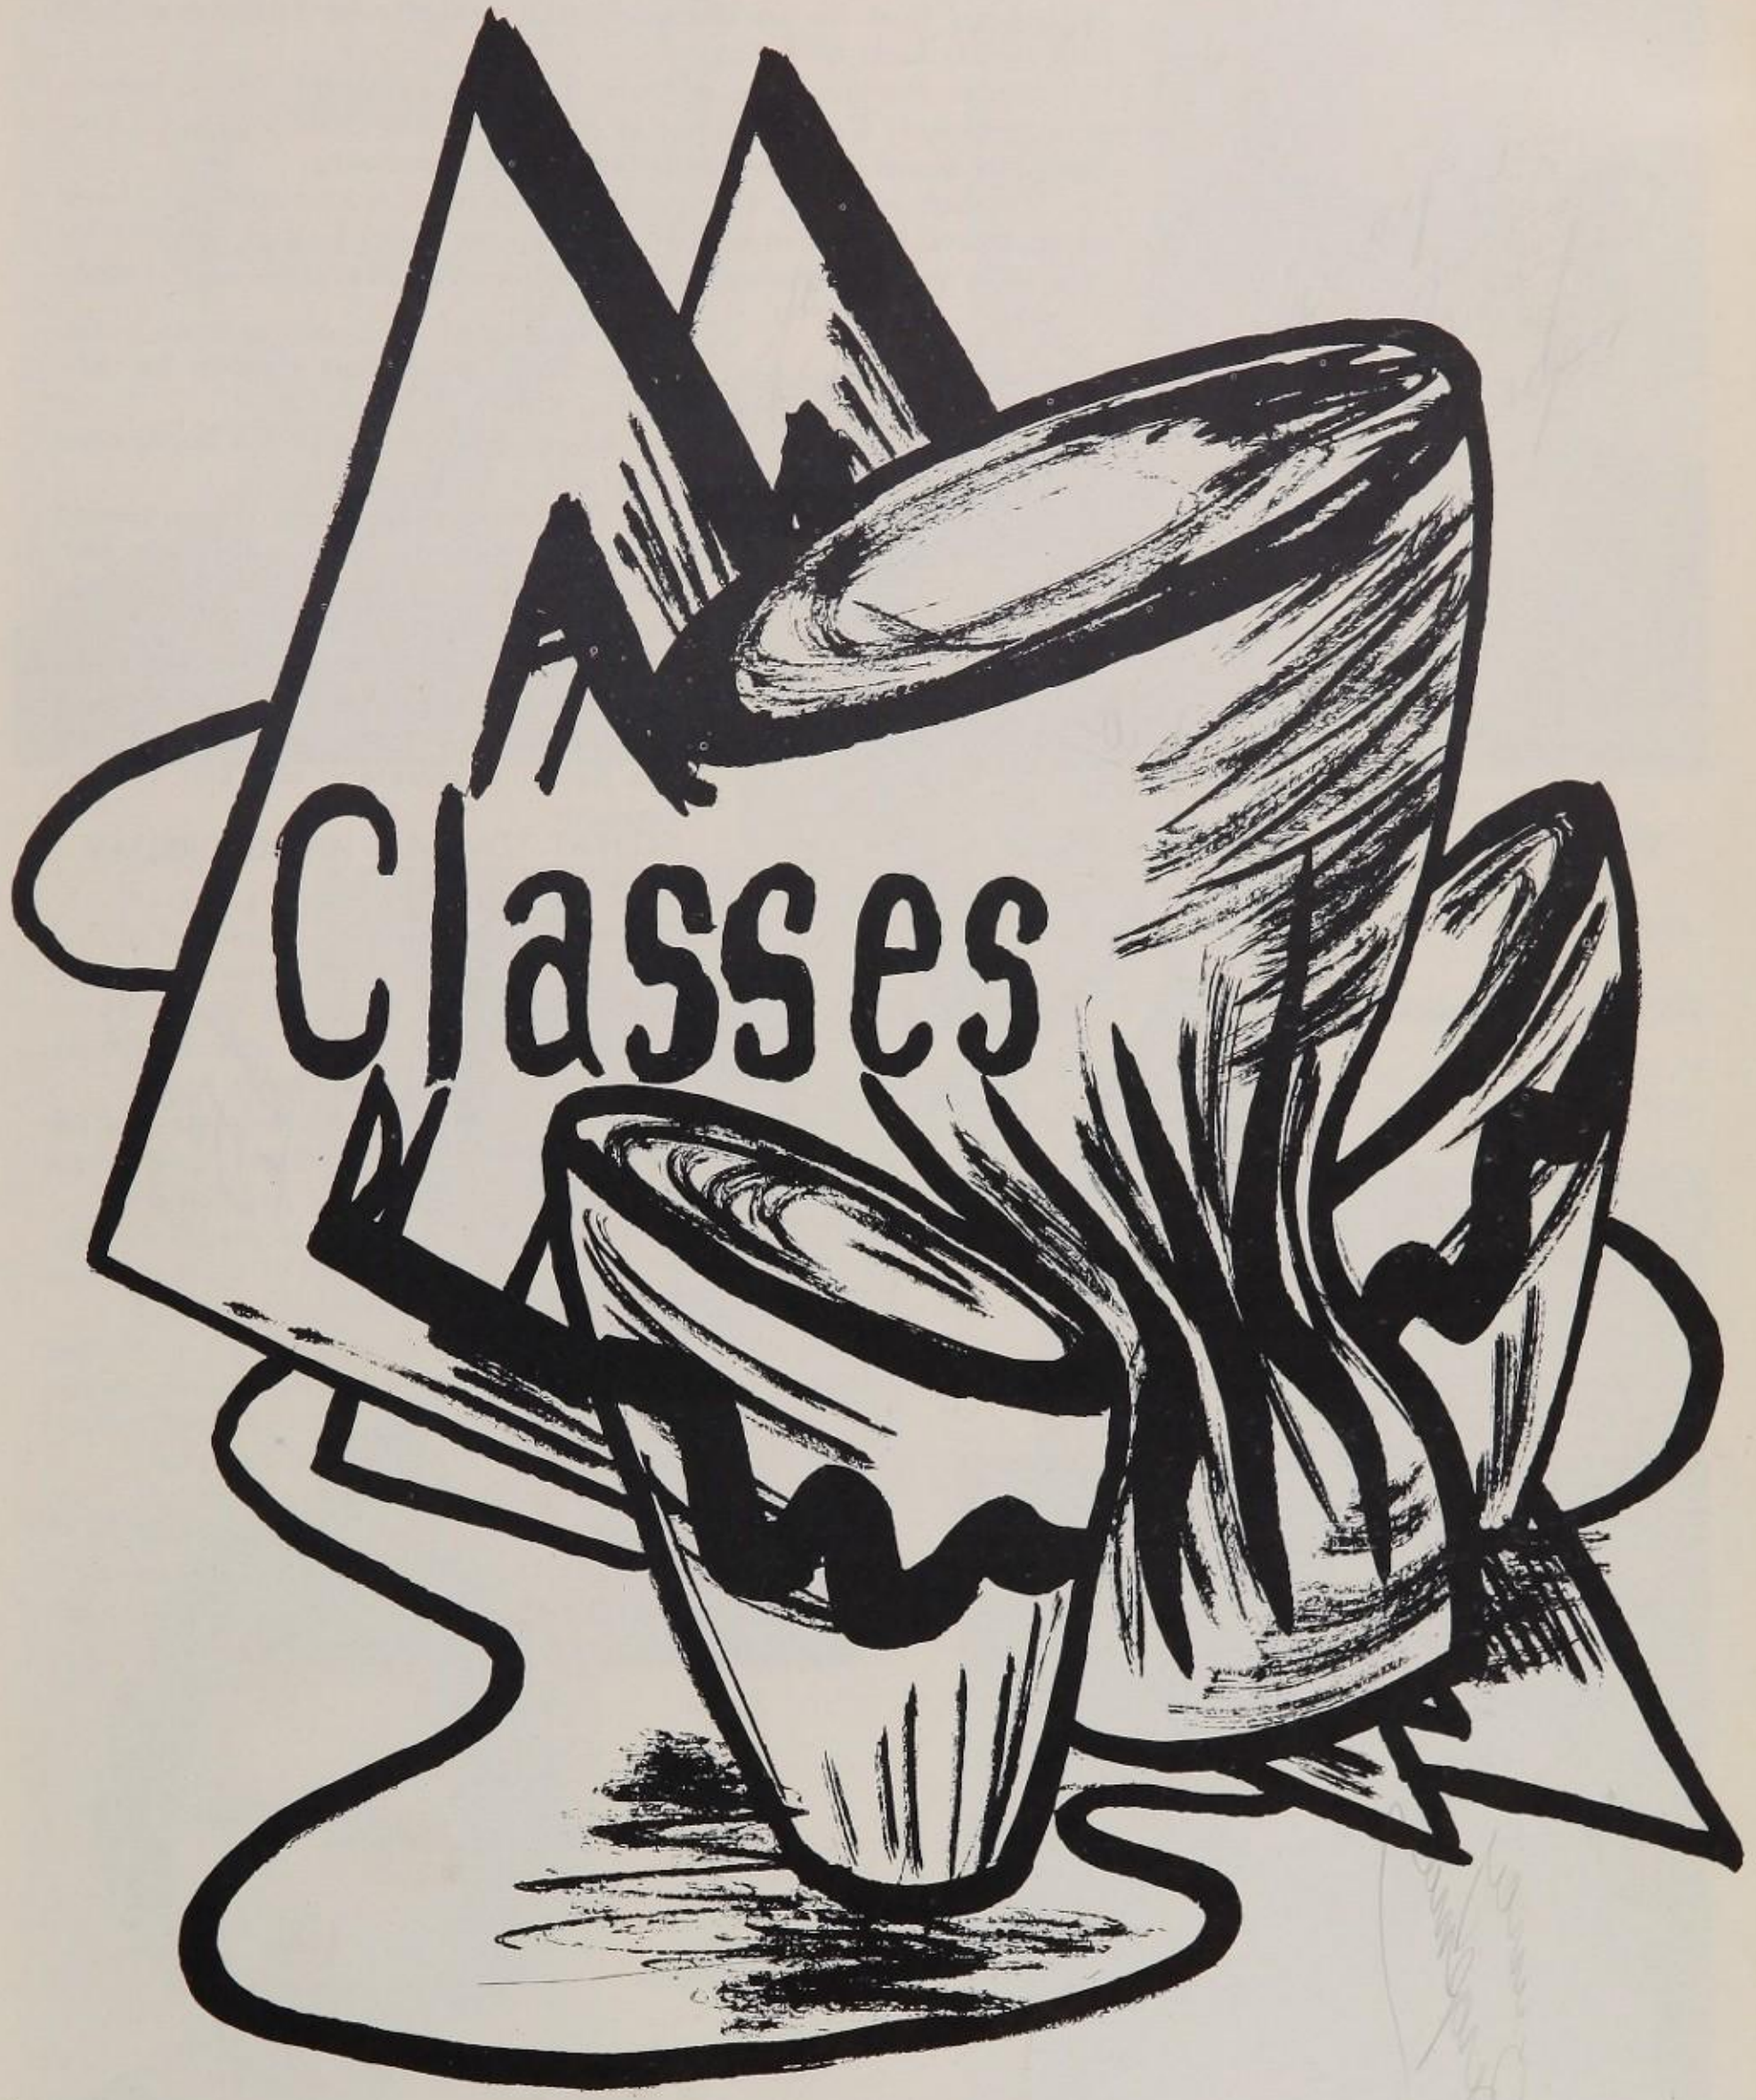
In the latter part of August, a volunteer committee completed the handbook which contained all information concerning the school and campus. It was especially helpful to the Sophomores. Classes, schedules for football and basketball, vacations, and academic subjects, plus all the required fees, awards, yells, song, rules and regulations were featured in this handy fifty-six page booklet.



The Calendar and Assembly Committee mapped out a calendar each month which scheduled meetings of all types, dances, assemblies and other important events. This information was posted in the office for the benefit of the studens.

Winnie Schmitz and Ted Montgomery, representatives to the Rotary Club, attended several meetings screening and selecting with the Rotary club, the girl and boy of each month. The students were judged particularly on the outstanding work they had accomplished during that month. Each boy and girl was invited to the business men's luncheon where a brief summary on their plans after school was given. The Rotary Girl and Boy-of-the-Month selection began for the first time this Sepember and has proven to be very worthwhile.

The Rules and Safety Committee, working in cooperation with Traffic Court, organized the Safety Car Check held during November and December. All students wishing to use the parking lot had to have their cars inspected by the members and a State patrolman to make sure all required equipment was in perfect running order.



Classes

SENIOR CLASS

The class of '58-'59 began like a number of creeks as students progressed from the various elementary schools and finally grew into one mighty lever of action.

Under the guidance of John Tweeten, president; Steve Lorenz, vice president; Cathy VanAlstine, secretary; and Joan Ingersol, treasurer; this group of sophomores tackled many projects.

Through initiation, the sophomores endured much teasing but were good sports. Male members of this class appeared clad in feminine attire while the girls donned men's shoes, inside-out apparel and straight hair. The class of "59" can go down in the history books as the last class to be initiated at K-M.

Mardi Gras, theme of the Sophomore Hop, was a great success.

The following year was the beginning of better things to come; with their feet planted firmly on the ground, the sophs advanced a step.

Junior class officers elected were Ted Montgomery, who held the position of president; Mike Minear, vice president; Jan Ketchum, secretary; and Bud Walker, treasurer.

The annual Junior Prom entitled "Exotic Evening" saw the gym converted into a jungle scene.

To be placed on the list of accomplishments of this growing class was the $300 raised by selling candy bars. This money went into a fund for a future grandstand.

That year found one junior, Karen Kipper, on the songleading staff and two others, Snooks Caldwell and King Jim Tessandore on the yell squad.

Though the final year has come to a close for the class of "58-59" their deeds shall long be remembered. At the beginning of the year these busy seniors devoted their time and energies to building a better high school. Their motto was, "anything worth doing is worth doing well."

The building of the Rec Club will finally get under way this summer thanks to the class of '58-'59 who started this huge project and stuck to see it realized.

The inter-class competition in the magazine drive, for the benefit of paving the parking lot, showed once again that the seniors finished what they started. They won the contest plus having the top four individual sellers.

The annual Senior Ball, "Fantasia," headed by general chairman, Jan Ketchum, proved to be one of the grandest with Pam Thompson and Lee Parr chosen as King and Queen.

The final days drew near, some seniors with plans for the future and others without. The last meeting of the entire class was graduation—from there this great river once again divided into small streams.

SENIOR WILLS

I, Donna Hedlund, will someday lose weight.

I, Nellie Joiner, will eventually gain what Donna's losing.

I, Diana Stevens, will the student store to any brave junior who doesn't mind mice scampering over her lunch.

I, Jerry Clark, will my freckles to Sonja Price.

I, Rodney Johnson, will to anyone who will have it, Chuck Fournier's ply-chev.

I, Darlene Anderson, will my loving, charming, handsome, intelligent, one-brow, cuz (Tom) another brow just like the other one.

I, Bob Johnston, will my ability to win all theoretical arguments to my little sister, who has yet to win one.

I, Jan Ketchum, will sure be relieved if the advertising section of this annual turns out.

I, Robert Evans, will probably be here next year.

I, Cathy Van Alstine, will my ability to skip Spanish II and still graduate, to anyone brave enough to attempt it.

I, Sue Wickland, will the school lawn mower to some unsuspecting girl who likes to sit on the grass during lunch.

I, Dennis Frink, will my ever-ready tooth pick to anyone who has trouble eating meat.

I, Sharryn Gerlt, will Mr. Pommer my brilliant research paper to use to get his Doctors degree.

I, Mary Ann Brunett, will my position as Drill Team captain to some stumble-footed Junior.

I, Leonard Obert, will hope that my brother gets some more trophies in Judo.

We, Jan Braunschweig and Marge Meagher, will our ability to skip school and not get caught to our younger sisters "De" and "Carol."

I, Nancy Bergsma, will marry Jim Blau.

I, Larry Randall, will my sparkling personality and willingness to co-operate to Mr. Raschkow.

I, Christie Bauman, will my good times as a Senior to my cousin Rick Sortun in hopes he doesn't get caught either.

I, Ron Bloomquist, will my rocket, burns, scratches, cuts, abrasions and fractures to any person who's folks will let him have it.

I, Bob McVay, will Johnston's meaness to an under classman so I'll be able to put up with him as a roommate over at Pullman.

I, Delbert Pearson, will my voice to anyone foolish enough to take it.

I, Dave Monk, will my teeth to Rick Sortun who might need them someday.

I, Gladys Ross, will Doug, Yamada to any sophomore girl who can catch him.

I, Bonnie Neilson, will certainly hope that next year's Senior class can think of excuses just as good as mine for not coming in late on the eve of the Senior Ball.

Pillow fights, popcorn and pop were on the agenda for this Senior "Slumberless Party."

JUNIOR CLASS

Pushing constantly forward to their senior year and graduation, the class of 1960 undertook the tremendous task of building a reputation of success. Leading the Juniors were Rich Ravet as class president, Trudy Lien, vice-president; Winnie Schmitz, secretary; and Sonja Price, treasurer. Trudy Lien again represented the group as an energetic cheerleader. Judy Hamer and Sonja Price filled spots as vivacious songleaders. Looking to next year are nine faithful Junior boys who graced K-M's winning football team, four varsity hoopsters and two boys engaging in the age-old sport of judo. The Junior Prom, "Roman Holiday," headed by Linda Taylor, and held March 7 was a success With this one goal, to better themselves to become next year's leading class, the Juniors eagerly await another school term.

Before the dance, Marge Rogers, dirty clothes and hair in spoolies, spends all day decorating for the Junior Prom that evening.

Three sophomores work industriously to plan and prepare for their Sophomore Hop which was held on April 17.

The class of 1961 entered Kent Meridian with much the same emotions as a baby taking his first steps forward or seeing that first bright candle atop a birthday cake. Once the sophomores knew all the ropes, they felt as if they'd been at K-M forever. Class president, Xavier Gibler and his cabinet, Dorothy Oakley, vice president; Gay Torstenson, secretary-treasurer, and Roger Dunn, sergeant-at-arms, ruled with strong hearts and an iron will, making sure the underclassmen got their words in edgewise. Joy Anderson, Pete Baffaro, and Lorelie Taylor served on the Traffic Court. Leading the crowds in rousing cheers, and keeping school spirit high were two Junior Varsity Yell Leaders, Gay Torstenson and Eva Whitaker. Proving herself as a top notch worker, Mary Larson, won a Cherry Pie contest.

A. Arnold, B. Bassett and P. Nelson make plans for the Sophomore Hop, May 9.

Homecoming 1958 was one of the biggest and gayest events the Senior High has ever seen. The halls were loaded with pep posters with blue and white streamers covering the upstairs and downstair ceilings and miniature goal posts at the corridor entrances.

The Alumnae Tea, "Royal Tea" sponsored by the Girls' Honor Society, honored the class of 1909. Introduction of special guests, refreshments, entertainment, and chatting among friends concluded the afternoon program for Thursday.

Friday after school, the pep band, drill team, song and cheer leaders, Pep Club, queen candidates and many other K-M students formed a parade downtown to advertise the Homecoming game that night. Not only was it the Homecoming Game in which the queen, Wanda Booth was named, but the Taylor Trophy was given to Kent by the Auburn Football Captain for Kent's victory.

The following day the boys and girls worked vigorously to set up decorations for the Homecoming Dance, "Return to Royalty." The main feature of the dance was a huge blue castle in the center of the floor with other blue-silver attractions to complete the palacial atmosphere of the affair.

The main attraction of the evening was the crowning of Queen Wanda by football captain, Dave Sawyer.

The evening was spent by dancing to the music of Burke Garrett's band.

M. Shaffer and D. Chaufty hang one of several large posters made to decorate the K-M halls at Homecoming time.

Herald Successful In Promoting Annual Xmas Drive

The Christmas Drive for the Needy sponsored by the Royal Herald was a tremendous success this year as the students brought canned food, toys and clothing until the "white boxes" placed in each classroom were overflowing.

In promoting the Drive, the Herald staff, Girls' Club and Boys' Club brightened the halls with yuletide spirits through Christmas decorations.

Climaxing the drive, a dance was held in the gym. Those who attended this all - school Christmas party brought their admission price of either two cans of food, one toy in good condition, or 25 cents.

The contributions were sent to the Princes' Organization who distributed them to needy families of Kent.

Booth Leads Staff in Year of Work, Gathering News, Publishing Kent-Meridian's Bi-Weekly Royal Herald

WANDA BOOTH, editor-in-chief, checks copy for the last edition of the Royal Herald.

Wanda Booth, editor-in-chief of the Royal Herald spent many hours before and after school working with staff members on checking copy, writing headlines, rewriting stories, and laying out pages; trying diligently to meet the individual deadlines. As soon as one edition hit the news stands, story assignments were posted for the following issue.

Always striving to better the bi-weekly, Wanda along with page editors, Sue Wickland, Nancy Weiss and Helen Schachtel, led the staff members in developing the six-page papers for Homecoming, Christmas and other special events.

The 23rd volume of the Royal Herald has been placed on the shelves for posterity, and the presses have shut down for the summer ending a successful 1958-1959 year of publications.

Eight Staff Members Attend Press Clinic

Eight students, Wanda Booth, Pat Nelson, Sonja Ottenbacher, Chuck Fournier, Ben Taylor, Nancy Weiss, Samya Wilson, and Eileen McHugh, adviser, represented K-M at the Pacific Slope Press Conference, February 20 and 21 of this year.

The two-day conference held at the University of Washington drew 1,500 participants from nine states on the west coast.

Taylor Represents K-M at Conference

Ben Taylor, Royal Herald sports editor, represented K-M at numerous press clinics and sports conferences during the year.

Being chosen to discuss "Sport Page Problems" as a member of a panel at the Pacific Coast Press Clinic held at the University of Washington and a sports editor's conference held at the Washington Athletic Club were among his honors.

A steady worker and a responsible person, Ben plans to carry on his journalistic talents in college.

Royal Newspaper Holds Valentine Dance Fri. 13

The Royal Herald, Kent-Meridian's publication, sponsored a Valentine dance after a basketball game February 13, and increased the press funds by $40.

The affair, under the chairmanship of Donna McIntyre, drew many couples to dance under the decorated ceiling of pink and red hearts.

D. McIntyre Heads Budget, Finances

Taking over the tremendous job of Business Manager was the task given to Donna McIntyre who, devoted to her work, managed the Herald's finances single-handedly.

Donna spent many hours selling advertising spaces to the local merchants. When she had acquired enough 'inches' to cover the need, she would then arrange and compose these ads before the paper went to press.

DIADEM STAFF

Lynda Leber, Editor-in-Chief works industriously at organizing and putting the '59 Diadem together.

"Make those deadlines, get those activity shots taken, start laying out that page!" These were familiar phrases shouted around the Journalism room as Diadem 1959 was in the process of being created. Editor-in-chief, Lynda Leber, led the staff of Jan Ketchum, business manager; Donna McIntyre, assistant business manager; Jamie Parsons, copy editor; Sharon Caldwell, pictures; Sue Wickland, layout; Christie Bauman, class editor; and Ed Foister and Ben Taylor, co-sports editors in many long hours of work to make this yearbook a reality. The first step in the production of the annual was to get the senior pictures taken, then all class and activity shots. At this same time the advertising staff busily was set to their task of selling space in the advertisement section to local merchants. Ad profits finance the book to a large extent. The next step was the actual layout of the pages. Staff members with scissors in hand and paste on their fingertips spent many long hours after school fulfilling this assignment. At last came that big hour—today when the finished product was received from the printer and distributed to you.

DIADEM STAFF

D. McIntyre and J. Ketchum had the tremendous job as Business Managers for the Diadem. Ads and subscriptions had to be sold and kept in filing order.

C. Bauman and J. Parsons checked, rechecked and headed all typing on the copy used in the annual.

S. Wickland with her assistants, S. Ball and S. Ottenbacher, stayed at school many evenings measuring, cutting and mounting the pages for the annual.

BAND

Under the direction of Charles Stowell, the 55-piece band played at all the home football and basketball games. Throughout the year the band played for Open House, the Christmas Program, and the Spring Concert. Their last engagement was providing music for the Baccalaureate and Graduation ceremonies.

CHORUS

Performing Chorus, which boasts a record breaking attendance of 82, successfully tried new experiments during the past year. A Thanksgiving concert, consisting of the combined efforts of the entire Music Department, was presented to the Student Body for the first time in eight years. For the annual Christmas concert, an organ was used in the accompaniment of the Cantata, Song of Christmas, which contained passages for five soloists, two ensemble groups, a narrator and a reader, in addition to the chorus. The songsters were filled with anxiety as they awaited the decision of their rating at the chorus contest. After singing two numbers, the group received a rating of excellent.

L-R — First row: T. Fox. S. Satran, P. Martin, P. Huff, J. Sandelius. F. Benham, K. Rudd, S. Schnell, G. Theisen, S. Osterhouse. Second row: M. Burnett, S. Thorsland, P. Foslen, B. Abel, A. TRIPLE TRIO — L - R — Front row: S. Schnell, J. Swetnam, G. Webster. Second row: R. Arnold, R. Halte, M. McKean. Third row: B. Neilson, P. Foslien, J. Hopper.

Under the supervision of Stanley Haynes, the Triple Trio performed for various events throughout the year. They included the Winter Concert, the Spring Concert, and the Annual solo and ensemble contest held in Tacoma.

— First row: M. McKean, S. ll, J. Swetnam, B. Neilson. Second ow: R. Arnold, R. Halte, J. Hopper. Third row: S. Goodspeed D. Smith. Fourth row: D. Pearson, M. Lee, J. Hancock.

A mixed chorus ensemble was added this year which was composed of twelve members. Traveling to Tacoma, the group participated in the annual solo and ensemble contest. Other performances included Panther Lake P-TA. Baptist Men's Dinner, Covington Grandmother's Club. Methodist Christmas Party for old folks, and the annual Jeff Home Dinner held in Renton.

Flute Duet—C. Ulleland and L. Biggar

Trumpet Trio—R. Mattson, L. Booher, B. Simons

Under the direction of Charles Stowell, the K-M Band ensembles participated in the winter concert, the Spring concert, and other school performances

ORCHESTRA

Under the direction of Clay Harrison, the Kent-Meridian Orchestra has grown from three members of forty-three in the past four years. This year's orchestra appeared in the Christmas Assembly, Christmas Concert, Open House, and Spring Concert. They also entered the Western Washington Contest that was held in Renton on March 21.

Mary Ross, Bass Clarinet soloist demonstrated her fine talent as a member of the band.

Jo Anne Stendal, Violin soloist has won much acclaim for her accomplishment as an excellent violinist.

It seems like it took — so to speak — such a long time to get to know you. Just didn't ever get the chance to — that's all. But I'm really glad — no kiddin' — like today — I'm sittin' in the dumps and you always seem to say something funny and helpful.

Thanks for being yourself and my friend.

"God be with you 'til we meet again"

Sincerely,
Joyce Parsons

Girls' Honor Society once again completed a very successful year. Leadership was handled by president, Jan Ketchum and advisor, Miss Eileen McHugh. Many projects and activities were carried out during the year. One of the biggest was the concession stand at the football games where coffee, hot dogs, and candy were sold to the spectators.

Other activities of the group were progressive dinners, trophy clean ups, pot luck dinners, Alumnae Tea, Tolo and initiation of new members. Other officers of the club were vice president, Snooks Caldwell; secretary, Nancy Wvnstra; treasurer, Donna McIntyre; registrar, Joan Savage; and historian, Lynda Leber.

TRAFFIC COURT

The Rules and Safety Division of Traffic Court check one of the cars parked in the student lot. L-R L. Taylor, S. Wickland, S. Petry, H. Pugh, J. Parsons.

Two students demonstrate the penalties given to traffic violators who are sentenced by the Court.

Working steadily with the Kent police department were the twelve members of Traffic Court, which was headed by Dave Sawyer, acting official judge during the sessions. Working along with him were Pam Thompson, acting as clerk, and Joyce Parsons, her assistant clerk. John Tweeten was Bailiff.

The Kent Police and State Patrol issued approximately twenty violation tickets which were submitted to Juvenile Court in Seattle and in turn sent to student court. John Tweeten brought the offenders into the meeting room for question by the court members, who then brought down a decision concerning the case. Penalties were decided according to the seriousness of the offense. The penalty would usually consist of cleaning the campus or any other job which would improve the school. Jim White headed the group.

TORCH HONOR SOCIETY

In this year of Sputniks and moon rockets, which caused keen competition between the American and Russian educational system, it is a matter of great importance for a high school to sponsor an organization such as Torch Club for top scholars.

Debator, Nancy Wynstra, was elected Torch Club president with Bob Snelling, Rick Mattson and Nancy Baumgardt, vice presidents; Linda Taylor, secretary; and Mary McKean, treasurer. Class representatives were Jack McCloskey representing the seniors, Lita Markhart, juniors and Joan Crandall, sophomores.

In order to affiliate with the National Honor Society, thereby making more scholarships available, the club standards were raised higher, requiring every member to have a 3.2 or better grade average. A gold pin is awarded to each club member at the end of the year to signify they belong to Torch.

The largest money-making project of the year, the Torch Talent Show, was held in April. Participants from each school in this district appeared before a panel, who chose the artists to appear in the show.

SPEECH CLUB

Speech Trophies won at speach tournaments during the school year.

This year the Royal Debaters, once again, held up the excellent record K-M has built in speech during past years. Advised by Gus Allen, the Debate team's first trip of the year was to the University of Washington where they tied for the first place award of "All-Around Excellence."

Reward for winning first place at the U. was an appearanace on KING TV's King's Community Workshop. The show featured Oral Interpretation, Extemporaneous speeches and closed with a round table discussion between Kent-Meridian and Mercer Island debaters.

Members of the team appeared on KASY Radio Station in Auburn as guest disc jockeys and announcers on two different occasions for half-hour shows. Also on the itinerary were tournaments at Seattle Pacific College, Seattle U., Pacific Lutheran College, College of Puget Sound, State Tournament at WSC, and the NFL Tournament in Olympia. Many honors and trophies were awarded Kent participants for their skill in the forensic field.

The Homecoming dance, "Return to Royalty," was the biggest and most profitable event sponsored by Girls' Club this past year. Over $200 was cleared on the dance, alone, which made it easier for the club to carry out its other numerous projects which are non profit. This year's Thanksgiving project consisted of a visit to the home of a lady who was temporarily unable to get out and enjoy the holiday. The girls took a large basket of groceries to her and her family, helping to make their Thanksgiving dinner a little brighter. The Christmas project was a party for the Blake Home children. There were all kinds of goodies and presents for each child and even a Santa Claus! The cabinet consisted of Sandy Thorsland, president; Darlene Anderson, vice president; Bonnie Neilson, secretary; and Joan Savage, treasurer. Various representatives to the club were Cathy Van Alstine, Senior Class; Sharon Thatcher, Juniors; Marcia Monstad, Sophomores; Rita Pierre, FHA; and Margaret Stewart, GAA.

Sophomore, Junior and Senior compare class ties and different ways they may be worn. Sophomore ties were turquoise, Junior ties were baby blue and Senior ties were royal blue.

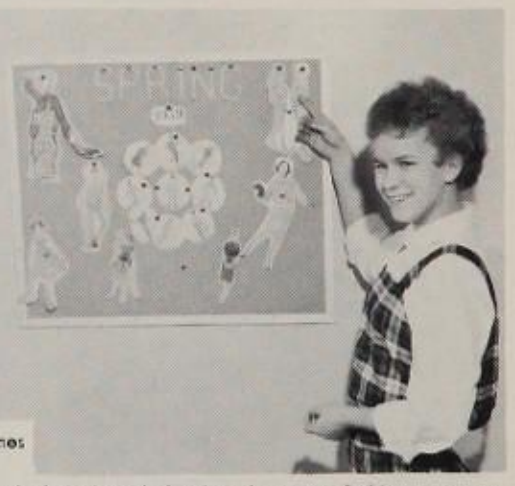
These shirts with the grotesque faces on the back were unique among the boys.

-Early dismissals, absence slips, and car passes were obtained in the attendance office during school hours.

"In spring, a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love."

-Signing casts, always a novelty, appears to be great sport for the wearers too, namely Dorothy Oakley and Herb Pugh.

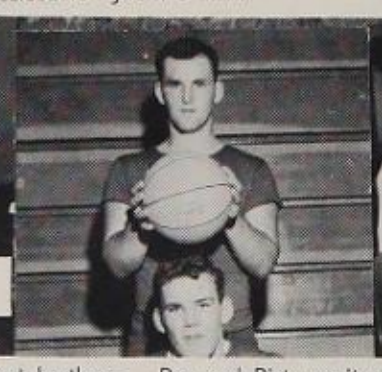
-The hula-hoop craze invades good old K-M as Dinah Jones decided to "give it a whirl."



-Gay Torstenson flashed a smile discovering her report card was better than Dave Monk's.

-A new bulletin board showing the latest fashions was put in the girls' lavatory. Here Diane Braunschweig points to her favorite spring fashion.

Late to class? Marla Lynn peaks around the corner hoping to sneak in without the teacher noticing.



-The Desmet brothers — Dan and Dick, varsity basketball players.

Making a new school banner was quite a task. Some of those who spent hours on the project are pictured.

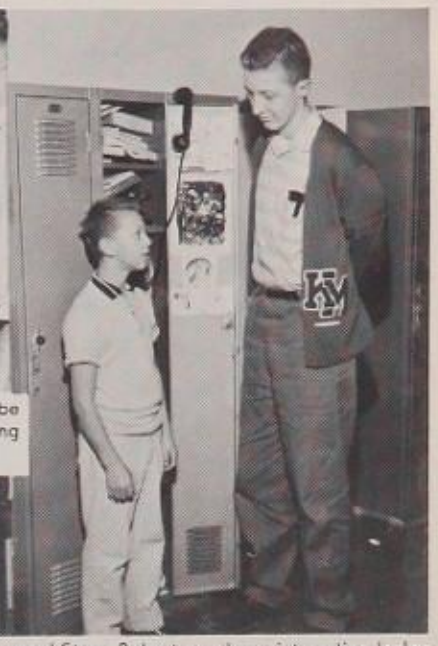
MEMBERS ALL AROUND K-M

Yell and song leaders get ready to leave for the Highline game in their "beetle" (a nickname they gave to the bus.)

Winner of the school cherry pie baking contest, Mary Larson practices just "once more" before the district competition.

Either George Wilson tells good jokes or he's just fun to be around because he was always seen surrounded by a gang of laughing senior boys.



Dennis Arneson and Steve Roberts made an interesting locker combination along with the jokes, pictures and other contents of the locker.

Senior girls eat and talk over the latest "news" during third lunch.

Jan Engle seems to enjoy talking on the phone. Could it be she's "chatting" with someone special?

While there may be other parking lots which have a newer selection of "mills" who can beat K-M's for variety?

Joanne Hadley seems to be under the impression that Neil Bosshart is a human locker. Lucky thing he's got a few muscles.

Seniors overpower sophomores! Jim Green smashes Xavier Gibler's face with a cream pie as "X" pays the penalty for the sophomore class losing the magazine drive.

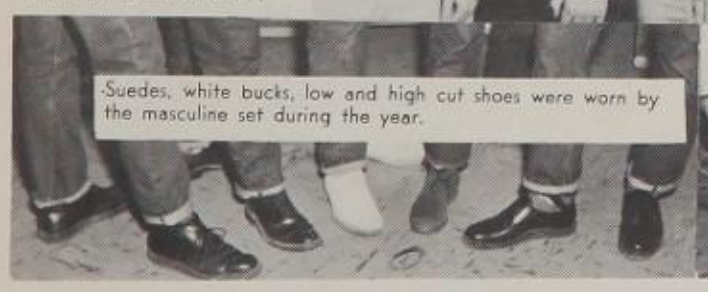
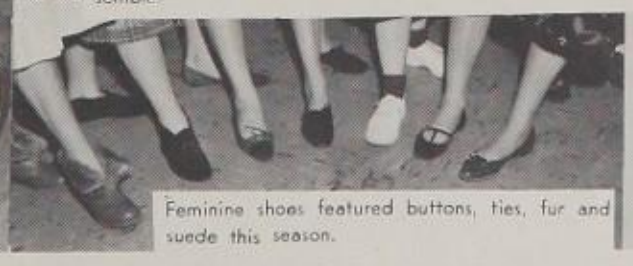
Boys' shirts joined the fashion parade this year with such things as barrel buttons, over-blouse styling, and subtle checks with silver thread.



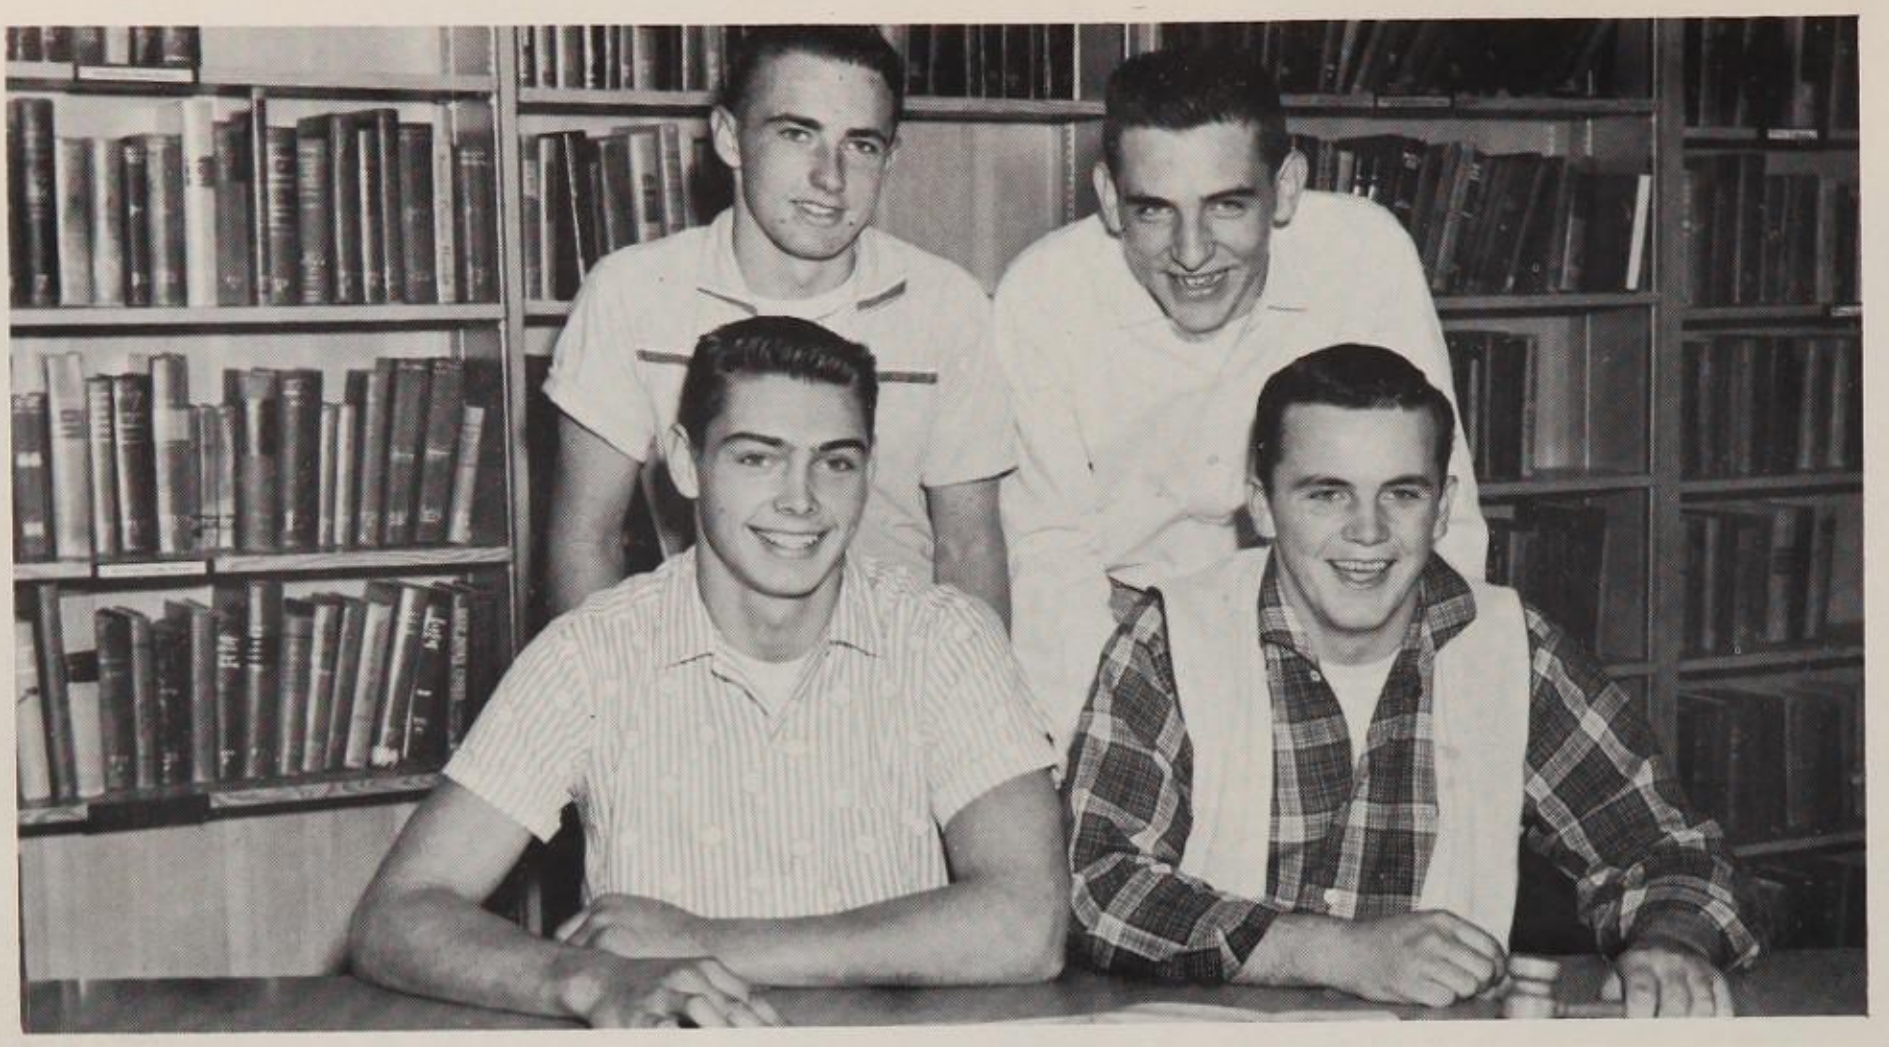
Suedes, white bucks, low and high cut shoes were worn by the masculine set during the year.



Feminine shoes featured buttons, ties, fur and suede this season.

Girls' sweaters saw the addition of hoods, big knitted collars, ties and some in bulky knits, pooh fur, and shag style wool.

BOYS' CLUB



Boys Club Cabinet L-R, front: Vice President, R. Sortun; President, S. Lorenz. Back, Secretary, K. Iverson; Treasurer, J. Parsons.

Boys' Club is unique because it has the largest membership of any club at K-M, due to the fact that it contains the complete male population of the student body.

Steve Lorenz, President, led nine monthly meetings with programs of varied topics presented by a different man teacher each month.

The executive board consisted of Rick Sortun, vice president, Ken Iverson, secretary and Jamie Parsons, treasurer.

A successful project of the club this year was selling decals for car windows and bookcovers with K-M inscribed on them.

Rec Club executive board

A lot of hard work, enthusiasm and patience has paid off for the members of Rec. Club. The club reached their goal of $4,300, which was matched by the Kent Cornucopia and put into a special fund to be used for construction of a Recreation Hall. The hall will be built in the City Park some time this summer.

Under the direction of Donna McIntyre, President and Pete Baffaro, Adviser, the club has taken on many money raising projects. The most successful project of the year was the Rummage sale which brought in a profit of $230. Other projects were dances, a bakesale, and car washes.

LIBRARY STAFF

Under the supervision of Mrs. Milligan, head librarian, the library staff worked hard to see that the library stayed in good order. They helped students to select the right books for projects and kept the books in their proper places on the shelves throughout the year. Magazines, newspaper issues, encyclopedias, dictionaries, fiction and non-fiction books were easy to find in their marked places for the convenience of teachers and students. During the past year the library department acquired over 500 new books, and the shelves now contain more than 3,000. The library's purpose is to furnish each student the enjoyment of reading and to meet the needs of the school literary curriculum. The money received from fines paid during the school year was used for the purchase of magazines and new books.

These three girls along with other staff members bound and mended many old, tattered books.

OFFICE STAFF

The 22-member office staff of Kent-Meridian, under the supervision of Helen Carpenter, proved themselves to be a very outstanding and efficient group. A few of their many tasks included business inside the office, typing and the daily bulletin, and all necessary school paper-work.

Cathy Van Alstine answers the phone with a bright smile and a cheery "hello."

Dr. Stewart reads the daily bulletin over the P. A. System, calendaring the events of the day.

Jo Ann Hadley types out the daily bulletin which is edited by the office.

JETS CLUB

During their second year of existence many things have been accomplished, as well as many problems solved, in the Junior Engineering Technicians Society. The club was originally set up to encourage scientific interest and development through several media. The first was through lectures by engineers, chemists, doctors, and other scientifically trained individuals. This year the the group had the following dissertations in that category: Lecture at the University of Washington on chemically powered rockets and protection of space Sattelites.

2. Dr. J. O. Taylor gave a speech on "Quacks in the Medical Profession."
3. Lecture on ironic propulsion rockets at Seattle University.

The second media is that of movies. Films were shown on the following subjects: Breaking the sound Barrier, Douglas Aircraft; Destination Earth, concerning guided missles; The Growing Rubber Industry, B. F. Goodrich.

The third media of education outside of the classroom was building individual projects. These offer outstanding opportunities for self expression and development, and the club has shown excellent projects, though few in number. This year a prize of a $25. slide rule was offered to the student who turned in the best project. Wayne Pommer and Roger Stillick captured this prize with their computer. This computer was one of the most important projects displayed and explained at a special Jets Club program put on for the P.T.A. during December of 1958. Ron Bloomquist's rocket, powered by special fuels, equipped with radio and parachute was another outstanding project.

Officers of Jets throughout the year were President, Mike Baute; Vice President, Rick Mattson; Secretary, Deanna Schricker and Treasurer, Mike Woody.

R. Stillick and W. Power adjust a wire on the computer they made as their Jets Club project.

Lettermen's Club is made up of the athletes who receive sports letters during the year. Mike Minear was President of the club for the '58-'59 year. The club's main project during the school term was a smoker held in the spring.

KINGS MEN: L-R front row: R. Haight D. Barnett, P. Quam, B. Koch, L. Parr, D. Sawyer, M. Minear, K. Iverson, T. Montgomery, T. Baines. Second row: B. Walker, E. Foister, N. Sherbakoff, G. Assisting recognized charity organizations, and conducting service projects was the main purpose of the Royal Page's Club this year, as they energetically worked to worthily represent K-M. Their most successful project was participating in the National Muscular Dystrophy Drive in the Kent Area, where they collected over $300, twice the amount collected last year.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

W. Schmitz and S. Olson look over the F.H.A. scrapbook.

The Future Homemakers of America, or more commonly known as the F.H.A., has done a very outstanding job in the many activities that they participated in throughout the year. As a means of making money they held bake sales and car washes, plus the yearly dues.

Officers were Jerry Clark, president; Rita Pierre, vice president; Janie McReynolds, secretary; Sherill White, treasurer; Faith Benham, historian; and JoAnn Hadley, parliamentarian. The club composed of 32 members and the advisors, Mrs. Howard and Mrs. MacKenzie made this a very outstanding club.

Future Farmers of America

These four boys were members of the parliamentary procedure team which won many honors during the year.

Dick Barnett, an outstanding F.F.A. member, displays the many ribbons, plaques and trophies he has won.

This year's F. F. A. started out well with ten boys entering into either poultry or livestock divisions at the Enumclaw Fair, which was held during the latter part of August. The boys won many blue ribbons and honors. Many of the same members entered the Western Washington Fair at Puyallup with success.

The livestock judging team, coached by Mr. Graham, competed in several contests and climaxed their season by placing fifth in the contest at the Western Washington Fair.

Dick Barnett, was one of this year's most successful Future Farmers, showing his sheep at the Puyallup, Yakima and other fairs where he won several championships.

The highlight of this year was an F. F. A. member exchange between three members from K-M's chapter and three from Santa Paula, California, for one week.

Fire Squad And Service Club

To police rooms and areas to be evacuated during fire drills, the fire squad is organized as a patrol unit in charge of building safety in case of fire, earthquakes or air raids.

The boys must make sure that students leave the building quickly and quietly. Every room is posted for proper clearance procedures and each drill is timed to assist squad directors in expediting faster movement. Thoralf Tommervik is advisor. Senior fire chief is Charles Reagan.

The service club was considered one of the busiest clubs on campus this year with all the public address systems, movie projectors, phonographs, and making game broadcasts for the football games. Most of our assemblies required the P.A. system which was handled very efficiently by the 12-member organization. Meetings were called every 2nd and 4th Friday of the month by President Harold Smith, assisted by vice-president Linda Steele, secretary-treasurer Barbara Haag and Phil Hester, manager. The club was directed and advised by H. A. Pommer.

LATIN CLUB

S. Clements, D. Rees, A. Hirinaka, J. Sullivan and C. Ulleland look over plans for the Latin Club paper "Vox Latina."

Through their many activities, Latin Club established its reputation as a leading organization this year. Officers elected by the members included Aileen Hiranaka, president; Mary McKean, vice-president and Susan MacDonald, secretary-treasurer. Advisor for the "Roman Society" was Carol Nelson. A Latin newspaper was published by the club, entitled the "Vox Latina." Such things as the convention, progressive dinner, J.C.L. speakers who elaborated on foreign countries, and the banquet at the end of the year, filled out the itinerary.

Future Nurses was formed this year to give students, interested in nursing, a broader background as to the future in this field.

President Lois Biggar worked with Miss Lindsay, school nurse, planning club projects which included making tray favors and candy for hospitals, touring the Orthopedic Hospital, listening to different speakers, and seeing films relating to the subject.

Other officers were Diane Rees, vice president and Mary Ross, secretary-treasurer.

Future Teachers of America was made up of those students who wish to become teachers in the future. Miss Margaret Waugh, adviser, led the group of fourteen in activities such as making programs for the basketball games, drawing up the school calendar of events and visiting various schools in the district. Members of F.T.A. taught at grade schools while the teachers attended the annual workshop. Officers were: Linda Steele, president; Barbara Haag, vice president; Bonnie Lair, secretary-treasurer and Ota Broyles, parliamentarian.

Because of the lack of stage facilities, the Thespians had limited activities this year. They performed at a Thanksgiving Assembly, portraying indians and pilgrims giving thanks around the table; a skit to encourage new members and a Halloween presentation at the elementary schools which stressed safety in make up in place of masks. A select few took a trip to the U. of W. for a conference dealing with play acting. The group was under the leadership of advisors Shirley Kay and Marilyn Radford. Ace Maxwell presided as president; Joanne Hadley, vice-president; Judy Swetnam, secretary; Linda Bress, treasurer; Nancy Robins, registrar and Nancy Wynstra, historian.

DRILL TEAM

K-M's Royalettes proudly represented the school this year by providing splendid marching tactics and maneuvers for half-time entertainment at some of the home games.

Working under the handicap of inexperience; the team with it's adviser, Miss Janet Peterson, assistant adviser Miss Lorraine Rosa, and team captain Mary Ann Brunett, worked incessently to perfect their routine for each performance. Last year a daily class period was devoted to drill practice, but this year the club was forced through lack of facilities to plan their performances after school. They met three times weekly for this purpose.

The team, assisted by the senior band and the junior high band and drill team, made a spectacular showing at Homecoming, last November.

Participating in the annual drill conference, held at Sumner, climaxed their activities.

Two new additions, from last year, to the Royalette uniforms were name bands worn on the right sleeves of their sweaters and matching royal blue gloves to accent white skirts, sweaters, and shoes.

The main goal of Pep Club this year was to promote better school spirit than ever before. The halls were decorated for Homecoming with streamers along with pep posters. At every home football game, the goal posts were decorated in school colors and pep signs were hung in the halls. Two rooter buses hired to go to the Clover Park football game were a success for the first time in K-M's history. Completing the year, Pep members sold penants of royal blue with white lettering during home basketball games and lunch periods.

Snooks Caldwell and Dona Chaufty paint one of the many posters Pep Club put up in the halls before games.

During the month of October, twenty girls were practicing long hours trying for a position on the Junior Varsity Yell Squad. Six of the girls turning out passed the panel of Jim Tessendore, Sharon Williams, Karen Kipper, Miss Peterson, and Mr. Ruth, and were presented in front of the student body to demonstrate their cheering ability. There was a hush over the school as Sharon Petry, Junior; Gay Torstenson and Eva Whitaker, both sophomores, were announced J. V. Yell Leaders for '58-59. White Bermuda skirts, blue Bermuda socks with lancers and "royal" blue sweaters was the attire the girls chose to lead K-M's JV basketball team on to victory.

Mr. Ruth, Miss Rosa, Mr. Albrecht and Miss Waugh entered into the spirit of things during a pep assembly by portraying mock cheerleaders.

Kent-Meridian's football team turned in a fine season placing third in the Puget Sound League standings.

The squad won seven and lost two, losing to Renton and Clover Park. On top of a splendid win-loss record, Kent also placed three players on the Puget Sound All-Conference football team; Rick Sortun, tackle; Jack Halbrook, center; and Dave Sawyer, halfback.

JUNIOR VARSITY TEAMS

The 1958-'59 junior varsity football and basketball squads completed a favorable season.

Though unable to break into the varsity teams, these sophomores and juniors work hard improving their skills and overcoming their weaknesses so that they might fill in the positions, left vacant by the graduatng seniors, on next year's varsity squad.

Intramurals for 1958-59 were declared the best ever this year by many of the boys who turned out for Interschool sports. Approximately 60 students turned out, composing seven teams. The section in basketball started in early October and finished in early November. The games were played on Tuesdays and Thursdays after school. The race for first place was fast and furious with Bob McVay's team ending up on top with a five win and one loss record. The Captains for this unit were: McVay, Dennis Hershberger, Ron Chaplin, Steve Roberts, Dave Richardson, Les Saylor, and Bill Nichols. Advising the group again this year was Jack Albrecht. Intramurals are organized primarily to give non-varsity athletes a chance to play and learn better sportsmanship and group relationship.

Although the Kent-Meridian Royals didn't place in the first division bracket, they demonstrated desire and a will to win. This season was a building year for Coach Jack Burrell and his assistants, Jim Cantrell and Rich Wienbrecht. The young crew saw only four seniors winning varsity letters. A nice surprise for the coaching staff was the many outstanding Juniors and Sophomores. With another year of experience behind them K-M is counting heavily for berths in the State Tournament in the next two years.

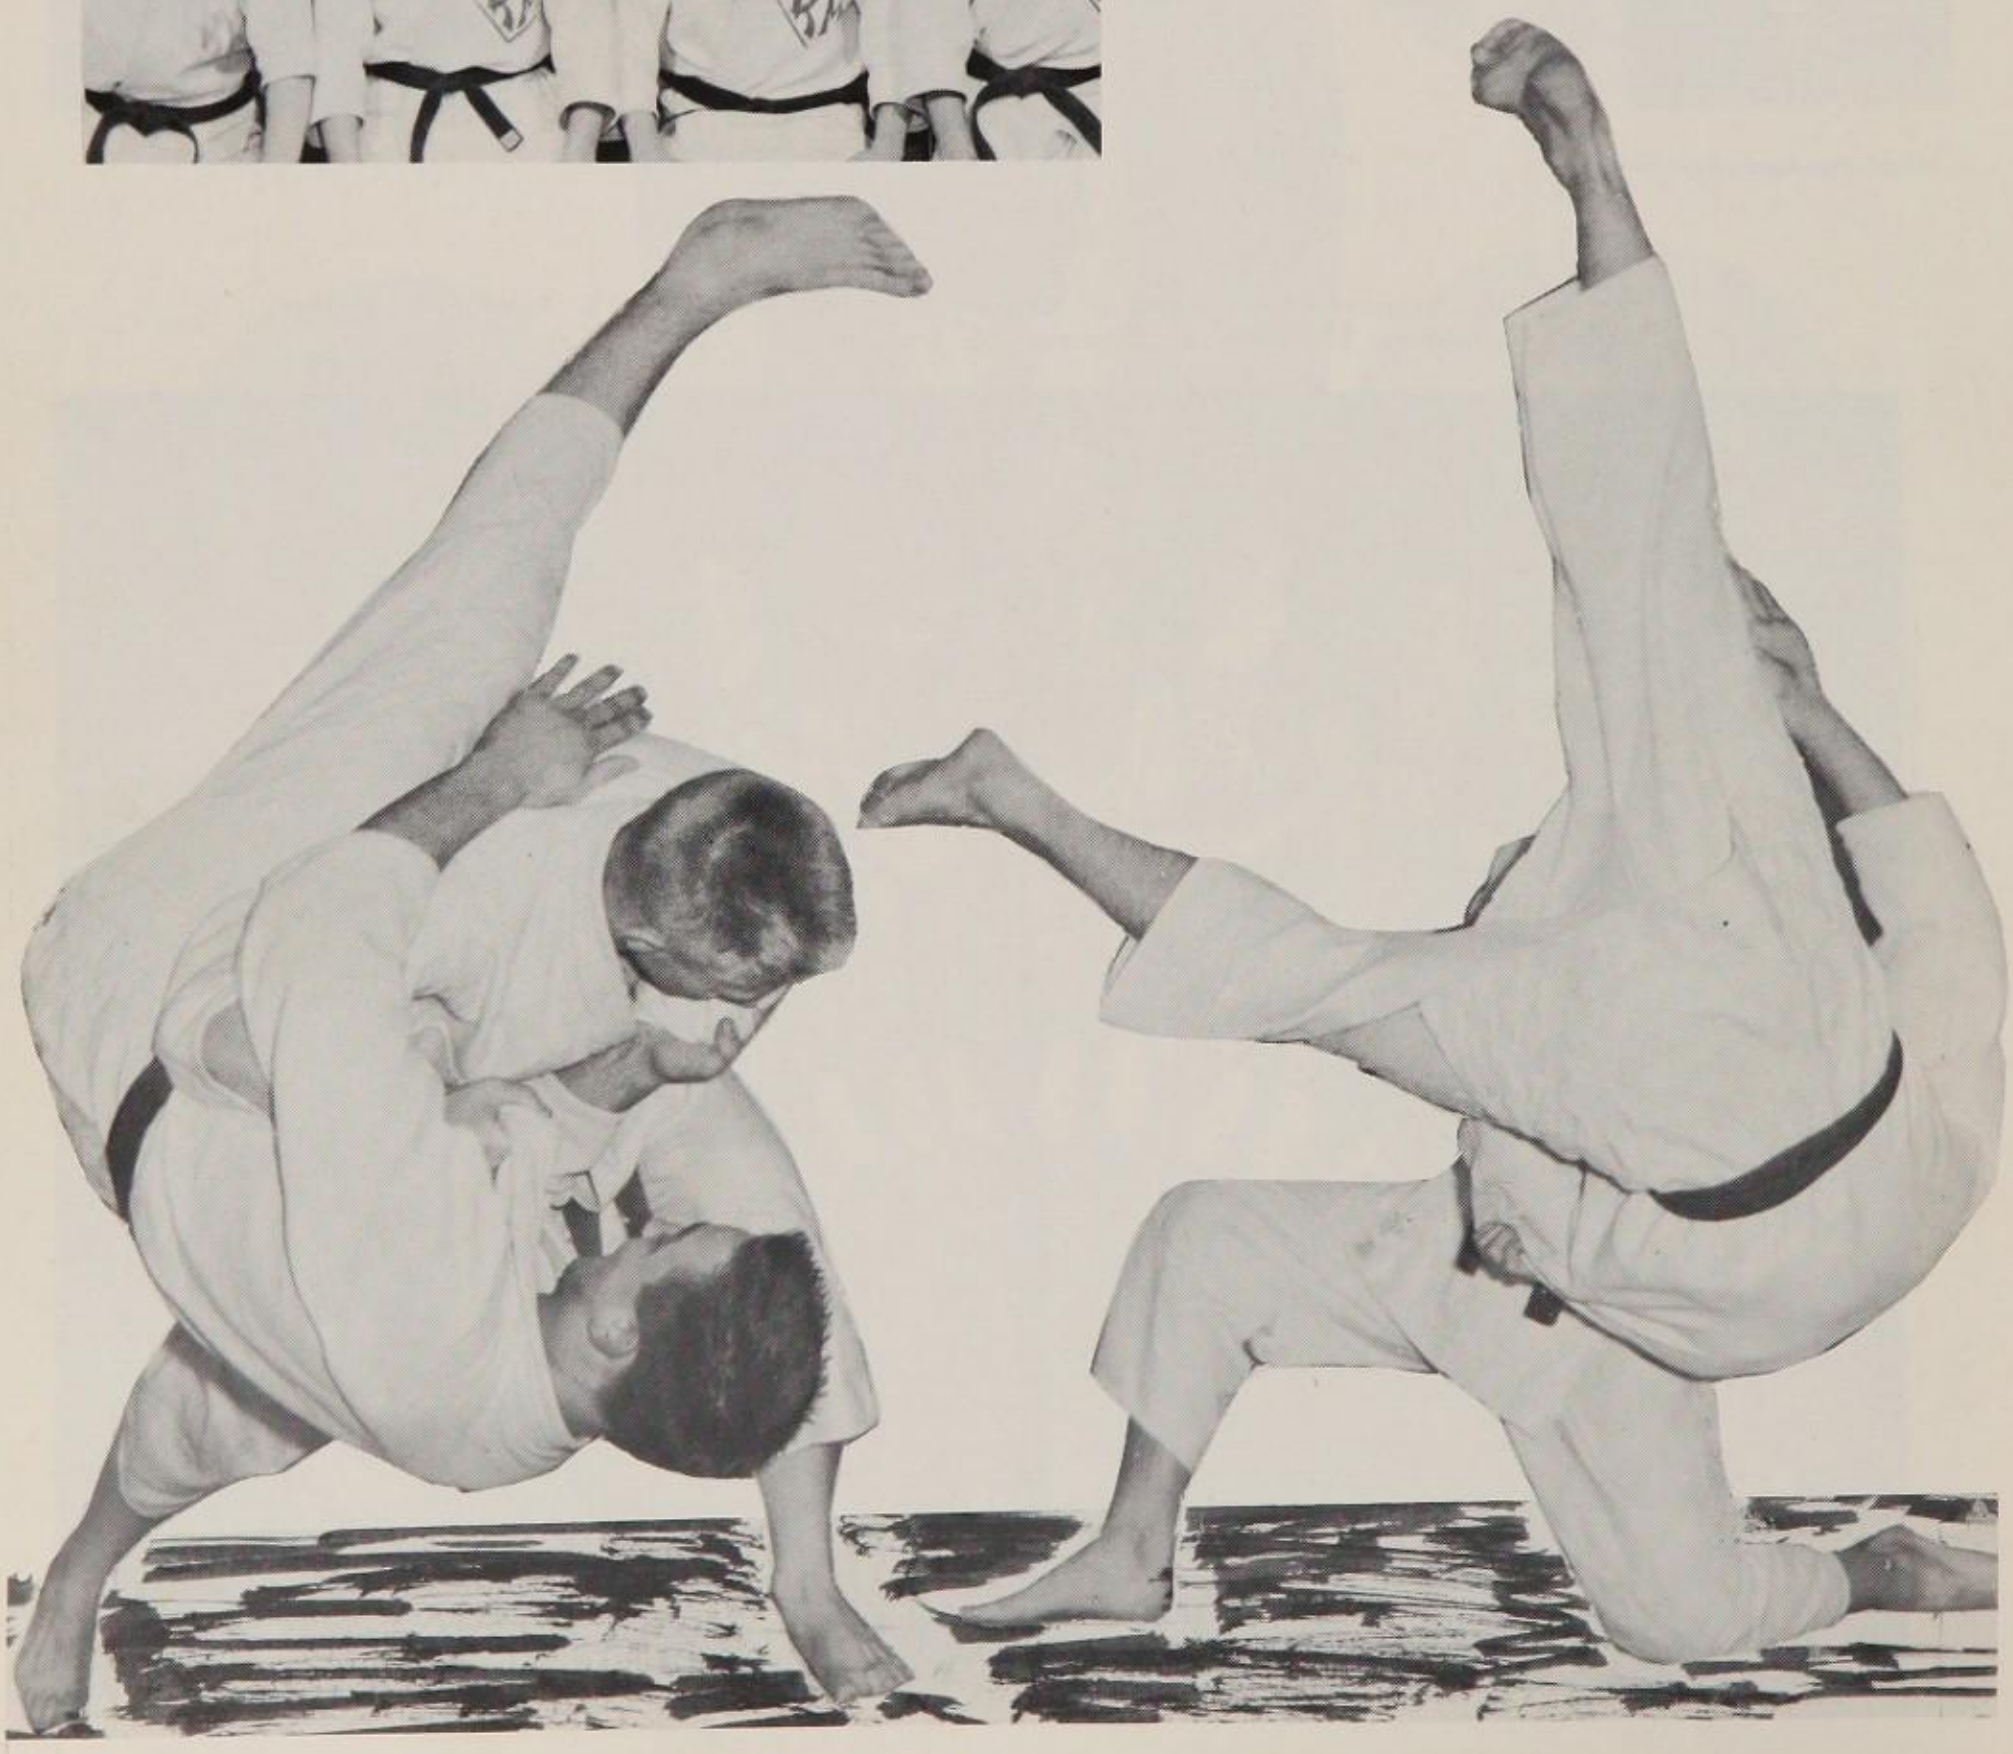
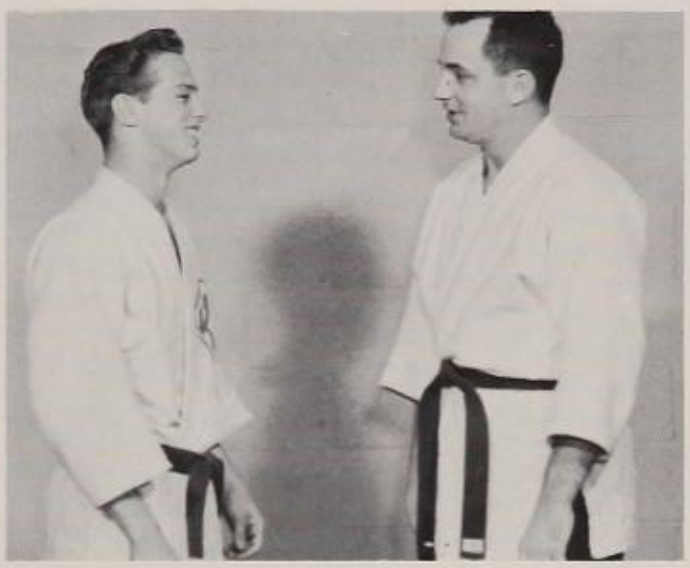
Judo trophies won during the 1959 season.



JUDO

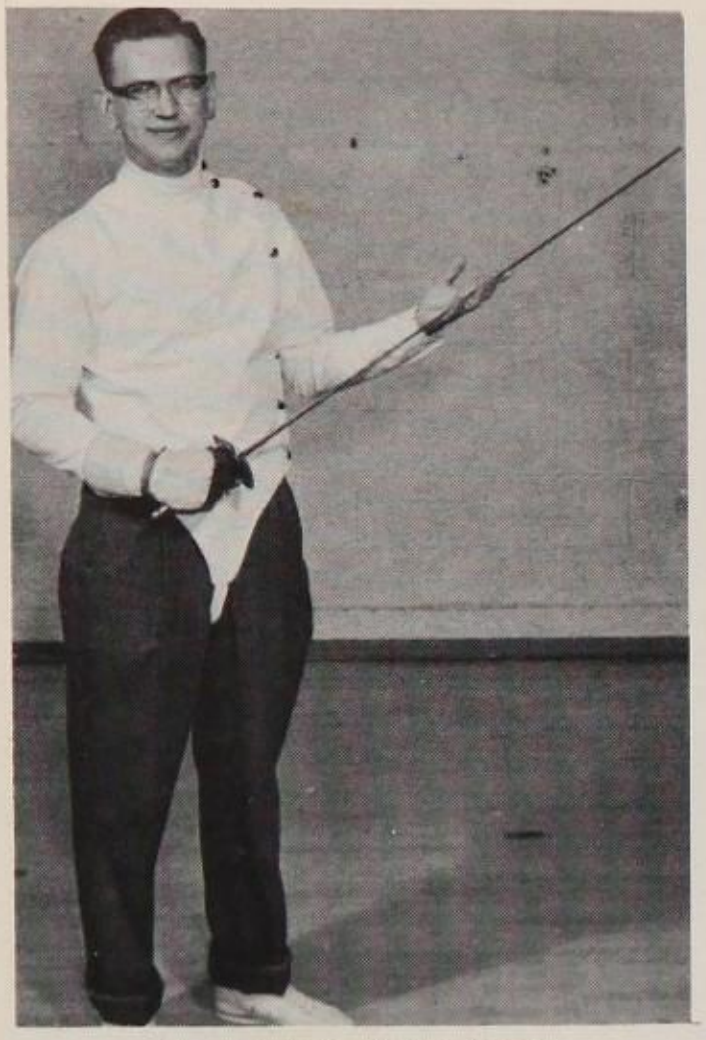


Captain Lee Parr converses with Coach, Mr. Wilson.

Again this year the Judo team kept its winning streak intact and brought back trophies from each tournament. They captured first in the Portland Tourney, first in the Western Canadian Championship in Canada, first in the Northwest AAU championship at Kent-Meridian, first in the Seattle Invitational Tournament and first and second in the Oregon-Idaho Championship at Ontario.

Outstanding individuals were Captain Lee Parr and Dave Sawyer who became Kent-Meridian's first two members of the Black-belt rank. Ben Taylor, Mike Minear, Jack Halbrook, Joe Jezek, Marvin Bartlemay, and Chuck Campbell won many team matches.

L-R Top row: M. Minear, C. Campbell, J. Jezek, B. Taylor, M. Bartlemay, J. Halbrook. Right down: L. Parr, G. Dodobara, D. Obert, T. Jarvis. Left down: D. Sawyer, R. Dunn, C. Nakayama, L. Saylor. L-R Bottom row: C. Gainer, J. Holden, D. Dobson, G. Kitajo, D. Busch, D. Yamada, J. Walker, T. Boyle.



Mr. Schulz-Fencing Instructor

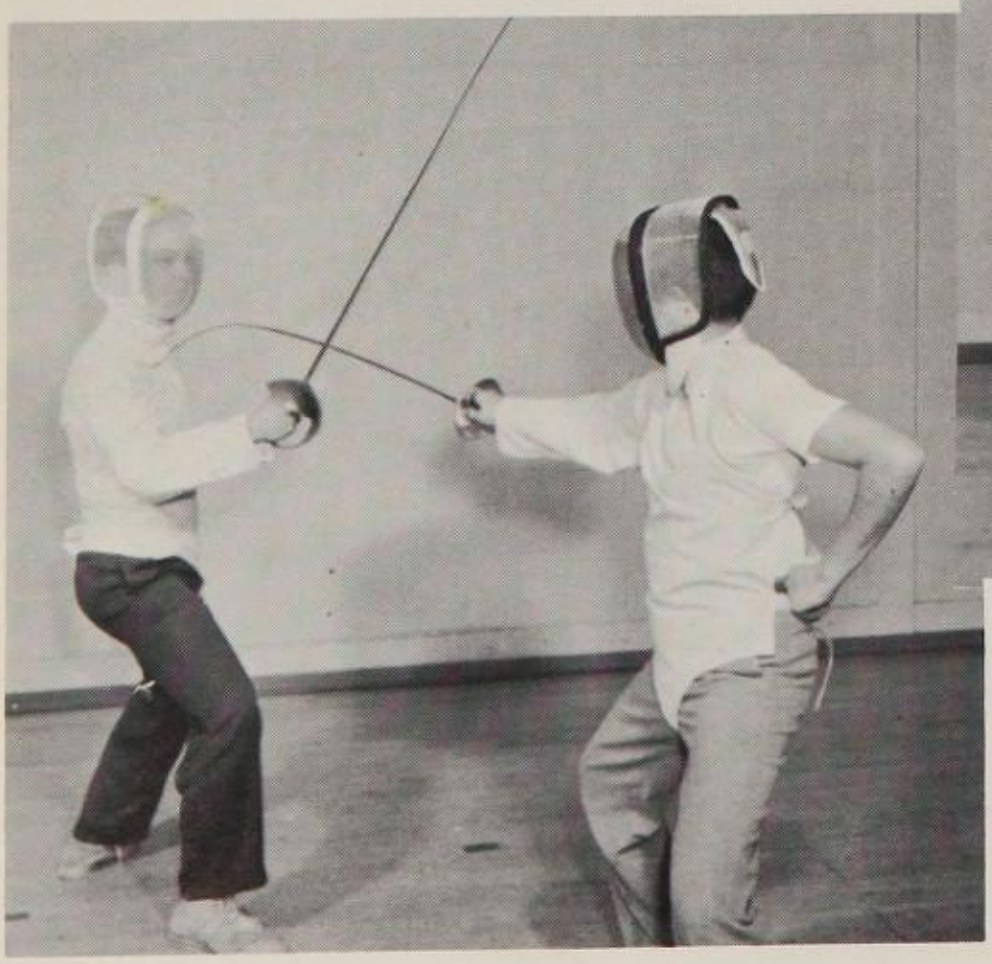
Back row: M. Maxwell, P. Knott

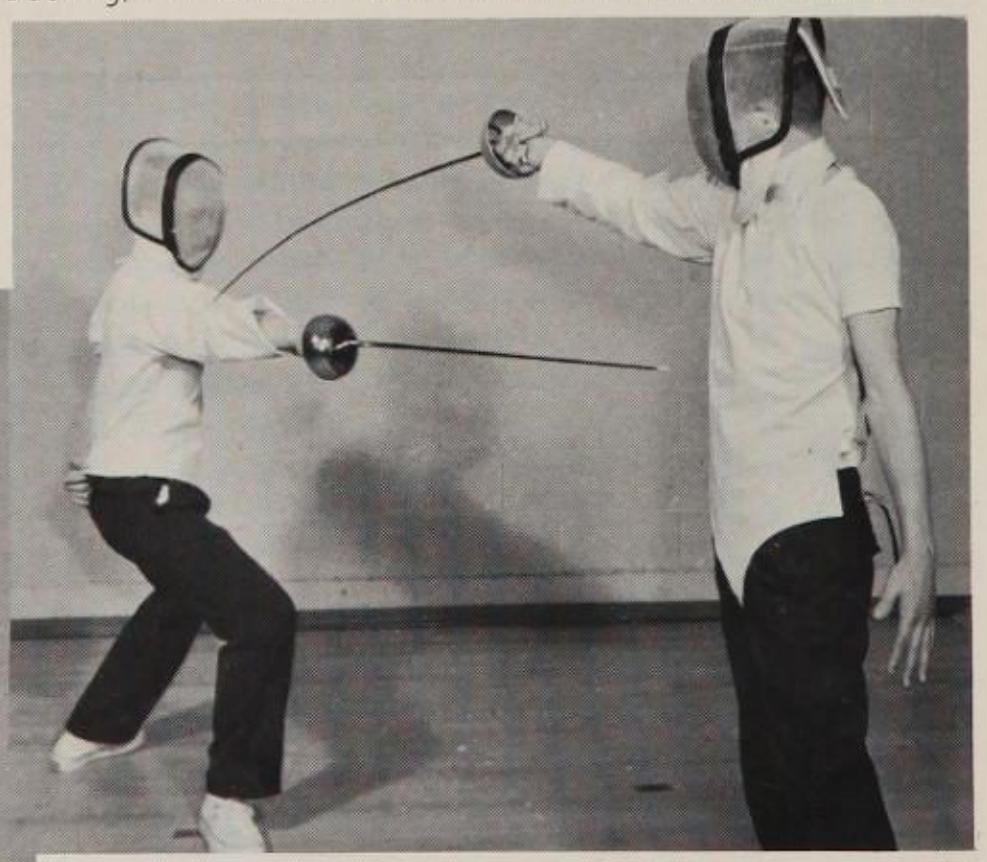
This year's fencing team consisted of all Sophomores who were: Jim Knott, Pat Knott, Mark Maxwell, and Mike Morris. They had one year of training and will not enter into any competition until next year. Because of the lack of instructors, when these boys begin to fence they will challenge men from different colleges and universities. These students will all be working as individuals.

Twice a year there is competition between the United States and Canada. The different groups boys can enter into are Novice, Junior, Senior and Open, which consist of all three classes. Also the men who win the championship in the Senior division can enter.

The team this year learned just the basic skills right down to the point. They also studied foil. Next year when the boys enter into different contests they should react and know what to do instead of thinking about it first. Among other things, they studied Sabre, Epee-dueling, and Sword. The students will enter matches with all three weapons and fencing against mature men.

Two fencing members demonstrate tactics in the art of Fencing.





Knott gains a point by touching Maxwell's right shoulder with his sword blade.

Captain Lee Parr converses with Coach Jim White.

Baseball, called by sports writers the world over as the "National Pastime," has once again come to a close for this season at K.M. Beginning in early March, the first turnout produced 10 returning lettermen; Captain Lee Parr, Ed Foister, Jack Halbrook, Dan Inman, Mike Courneya, Dave McIver, Grover Smail, Jim and Jerry Simpson, and Ron Haight. Also several promising juniors and sophomores showed their skills. Coach Jim White, in his second year at Kent had this to say about his Royal Batsmen, "Our most contributing factor was the desire to win and be on top."

TRACK

"This was the year," claimed Coach Bob Tommervik. With 13 returning lettermen, Tommervik had a good and experienced track squad. Tommervik is in his 11th year of coaching. He graduated from Pacific Lutheran College where he held the school record for Pole Vaulting.

The material looked very promising, especially among the Sophomores. Returning lettermen included, Seniors: Gary Thompson, Bob Koch, Gerald Rock, Rolf Christenson, Dick Barnett, Ron Chaplin, John Tweeten, Marvin Bartlemay; Juniors: Gordon Tubesing, Le Roy White, Neil Sherbakoff; Sophomores: Roger Dunn, holder of the Puget Sound League Junior High Shot Record; Larry Unsderfer, holder of the Puget Sound League Junior High Pole Vault Record; Pete Baffaro, Joe Ansite, Dave Richardson, Xavier Gibler and Rodney Brunelle.

The biggest handicap facing coaches was lack of a track for proper training. Home meets are now held on the Auburn track. Plans are underway to build a track at K-M in the near future.

Managers were Curt Nakayama and Kent Winchell.

Coach Jim Cantrell and his golf enthusiasts wrapped up another outstanding season this year.

The three returning lettermen, Larry Randall, Dan Desmet, Dick Desmet and Chuck Campbell provided a good nucleus that made the Royals respected by all challenging league teams. When old man sun co-operated, the team could be seen practicing diligently on the Lake Wilderness greens.

TENNIS

Instructor—Harold Pommer

Spring tennis turnout was greeted with many enthusiastic new aspirants and experienced varsity players during the '59 season. Under the instructorship of Mr. H. Pommer, these students practiced two nights every week on the tennis court at the city park. They learned many different tennis techniques and skills along with participating in limited competition.

Eighty Girls' Athletics Association members, who turnout twice a week, participated in seven major sports. In addition to the sports program which includes Volleyball, Basketball, Bowling, Badminton, Softball, Tennis, and Recreational Activities an Activity day was organized this year to give members in the league an opportunity to get acquainted with neighboring schools. At each activity day G.A.A.'ers are given a chance to gain athletic experience by challenging others in current sports. This year the girls welcomed for the first time five northern schools in a Volleyball activity day which was held in October. During the spring the annual Mother-Daughter dessert party was held to award letters to girls who have obtained the required amount of points throughout the school year.

FACULTY

While there may have been some students who registered for the school year last September with a feeling of supression, these feelings somehow dwindled as the year progressed.

In the case of graduating seniors, the faculty became advisors when questions on college arose. Those informal "after-hour" talks regarding future plans and present problems were guiding lights for many.

Besides their classes, faculty members somehow found time to sponsor clubs, coach athletics, chaperone dances and do numerous other things.

Not only were new teachers added this year, but also classes never before offered to students, found their place in the curriculum. Math and qualitative analysis were offered to those with keen minds. First year German became the third offered foreign language for those interested. For seniors not going on to college, practical English and refresher math were given to keep them "on their toes." Washington History was added to the history program and speech was returned to the schedule.

In the coming years, when students may become accomplished artists, architects, businessmen, career women or housewives, the hands which guided them from the first through twelfth grades, will be responsible for the success gained.

Although many of the teachers receive no immediate thanks for their work, counseling, or kindness, students' gratitude for that verb conjugated, problem solved, or equation completed will last through the years.

and a home economics demonstration room for both cooking and sewing.

The future forsees a more standard method of teaching; for example, the entire district will adopt similar text books for the same classes. This way all the students will advance on conforming levels.

Coriculum Director A. C. Brown now at work with the Board, is supervising representatives from each building in the district. This group, referred to as the key advisory for Brown, are now working on big plans for the future. They clearly understand that there must be a change, for in the year 1964-65 the high school will have fifteen hundred students.

The General Administration of the Kent-Meridian school district saw a change when last years high school principal A. C. Brown was appointed to the position of Assistant Superintent for the entire district No. 415.

This year has seen many dreams of the administration fulfilled. One was state's approval of the plans for building extensions in December and the second was awarding the contract.

The company started work the first week in March. The new addition includes a cafetorium, two music rooms, one for band and one for chorus; little theater, district kitchen, an additional girl's shower room, four class rooms

Dearest Lovable Sharry
I'm sure glad you're back
Happy cold days and the best of everything
As always Darlene

Dear Sharry
Just a few lines to say how glad I am to know you have real friends here in Kent. Someone not to be envied. Someone who has no luck. Sincerely, Bonnie '59
P.S. You're cute.

Best of luck to a great Girl

Dear Sharyn,
It's been loads of fun knowing you these last two years and having you in some of my classes. Best of luck for a real sweet girl.
Love Carol Bjelbaut '59

Sharyn,
The best of happiness should be sent to you by the One who sends it 'cause soma pills are quite expensive here on earth at the present!
Remember all those Cryptograms we worked out? At least we're experts in one field.
Love Always,
Becky Bradley

Well Sharyn,
We're almost ready to face the "cruel?" world.
Here's wishing you the best of everything in whatever you attempt.
Sincerely,
Joanne Stendal

Dear Sharon,

English and Contemp have been quite a ball! Our terrific research papers. Won?

To be serious (If I can) School's been great this past year and I've enjoyed knowing you.

Best wishes always to a neat girl.

Love
Christy Willeland
